FRANK CHANCE WILL REMAIN WITH YANKS

Has Made His Peace With Owner Part and Shuts His Club—Incident
Likely to Be Declared Closed.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Frank Chance will stay at the helm of the Yankees for the remainder of this season and throughout next season, notwithstanding the report that he had tendered his resignation as manager of the local American League team. To-day the American, later, Chance and owner, Francis Farrell, and "Big Bill" Devney was amicably settled, following a verbal apology from Chance.

Chance admitted that he was unjustified in using the language that nearly precipitated blows between himself and owner. Frank Chance was said to have attempted to strike Devney, and for this he declared he was sorry that he permitted his wrath to get the better of his judgment.

Chance insisted that he would fulfill his contract with Farrell, and would finish out the season, as well as command the Yankees through next season. Farrell made no public statement to-day, but it is believed that he will declare the incident closed.

CULPEPER PUBLIC SCHOOL OPENS FOR ITS NEW TERM

Principal Hendrie Assisted by Corps of Ten Teachers—Surplus Hd.

Term Is Again.

CULPEPER, VA., September 13.—The Culpeper public school opened here on Monday with Professor Thomas W. Hendrie, who held his first class after twenty years as principal, and a corps of ten teachers. Owing to the numbers of scholars who sought admission all of the rooms are crowded and two of the primary grades are being taught in rooms rented in the telephone building across the street from the school. Numbers of changes have been made in the school buildings during the vacation, among other things auditory drinking fountains being installed on each floor.

At a meeting of the Board of Supervisors for Madison County, held on Monday, the county poor farm was sold at auction to the highest bidder—the reason for this sale being that it was longer required to house the two officers in that county, C. R. Walker being the purchaser, paying the sum of $75,000 for it.

Miss Leona V. Lohr and Charles E. Garrett were married at the home of the bride in Madison County last week in the presence of the members of the two families and a few intimate friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robert Grindstaff. After a wedding breakfast the couple will make their home in Culpeper.

The funeral of Mrs. Nellie Ashby, who died here on Monday night, was held Wednesday from the Episcopal Church, the services being conducted by the rector, Rev. Kenesay Hamlin. After the service she had been laid out in a casket which had been fashioned as a grave and for many years, special permission was given by the Mayor and Council for her interment there by the side of her husband, whose death occurred many years ago. Mrs. Ashby was a native of Culpeper and a former resident here, being the daughter of the late Thomas Ashby, and for several years has been spending the summer here as she does the winter.

On Saturday evening she sustained a fall, which was not thought at the time to be serious, but she shortly lapsed into an unconscious state and continued so until her death. Surviving her are two sons, Rev. Aylett Ashby, of Elizabeth City, N. C., and Dr. John Ashby, of Carroll, W. Va., and one sister, Mrs. Mary Johnson, of New York, and two nieces, Miss Ethel Stoeckle of Richmond, all of whom were here to attend the funeral.

P. A. Brown, a prominent farmer and business man of Novays in Madison has been appointed by Governor Smart as delegate to the National Farmers Congress to be held in Foggy Bottom, Washington, this week. The Spring Hill farm meets here this county, which was sold two years ago to a Mr. Barron, after being in the Brown and Wager families for many generations, was again sold this past week to Harry Pitt, of Madison County, who will make it his home.

Mr. Dabney Lee Thomas, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amirth Thomas of Catalogue and the Barbourton Woods of Philadelphia, were married at the home of the bride's parents on Monday evening, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Mr. Fairbanks of the Culpeper Methodist Church. There were no attendants, and the ceremony was witnessed by members of the two families and a few relatives, including G. L. Johnson, a uncle of the bride, who married over 50 years ago. Charlotteville is to attend the marriage. Immediately after the ceremony Dr. West and his bride left for a Northern honeymoon, and will make their home in Philadelphia.

Rev. Stockton Cole, a former pastor of this county, who is now in charge of the First Presbyterian Church of Clinton, Ga., came this week to conduct the services at the funeral of W. W. Melton of Charlottesville. He was a Confederate veteran and one of the oldest men in the county.

ENGLISH MAIL STAMPED WITH WAR RELIEF SEAL

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Correspondence from England through the mails bearing war relief stamps indicates the interest there in the project to raise a relief fund intended to aid soldiers in distress by reason of war. First-class mail bearing ordinary postage also carries the small stamp of the war relief fund, which is modeled somewhat on the one of our own Red Cross Christmas seals.

The war relief fund stamp is about four times the size of the ordinary postage stamp, and sells for a penny. It depicts a soldier with money bags which kneels before a figure, presumably a woman, who is kneeling and clasping the neck of the kneeling figure. Placing money in the outstretched hand of the kneeling woman is an armed figure of Britannia. In the background stands the figure of a uniformed soldier, his bayonet fixed upright. In the distance are two warships.

The stamps are excellent examples of engraving. The allegorical figures representing the British nation aiding its people in distress is well executed. The stamps bear the legend in small type, "Issued by the approved mediator."

WILL PROBABLY STICK TO PRESENT WARD PLAN

Annexation Not Expected to Result in Enlarging Membership of City Council.

MUST REARRANGE BOUNDARIES Board of Aldermen Will Act To-Morrow on Resolution Appointing Spec- ial Committee to Draw Up Ward and Precinct Lines.

The removal of the last barrier in the way of annexation by Henrico County's agreement to withdraw its opposition to Judge Campbell's decree, has given impetus to the projected redistricting of the enlarged city, so as to insure equitable representation in the City Council.

Under the law, a readjustment of the wards is required whenever one ward exceeds in population the other by more than 3,000 inhabitants. The addition of seventeen additional square miles of territory on November 5 will, of course, produce a condition which will require immediate adjustment.

Under the direction of a committee which has been taken by the Common Council, which at its meeting last Tuesday night passed under a suspension of the rules, a resolution appointing a joint committee of nine, four from the Board of Aldermen and five from the Common Council, to undertake an immediate redistricting of the city into new wards. It will come up for concurrence at the meeting of the Board of Aldermen to-morrow night.

FAVOR RETENTION OF FOUR-WARD SYSTEM

Councilmen and city authorities generally agree that the most part to favor the retention of the four-ward system. There are, however, some who believe that the enlarged city will be better served by a division into six or eight wards. A majority, however, it is believed, are inclined to favor the apportionment of the whole city into four wards, and the enlargement of the present city boundaries to equalize the population.

A tentative plan of division, based on the four-ward idea, is being prepared under the direction of Councilman Jones. The sketch will be presented to the redistricting committee for consideration, if the Board concurs in the resolution appointing such a committee. Final concurrence in the resolution is expected.

Broadly described, the tentative plan of Mr. Jones maintains the general scheme of division now in force. The plan gives Madison Ward all of the city south of the river and that section of the city north of the river bounded by Mountain Street and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company's line on the east, First Street on the west, and the corporation line on the north.

PUTS NORTHWESTERN SUBURBS INTO LEE WARD

Jefferson Ward, according to this tentative plan, would embrace the whole eastern section of the city, east of the eastern boundary of Madison Ward, which includes between the river and the corporation line on the east and north.

Lee Ward, under the same plan, would embrace the whole northwestern section of the city and that portion of the western boundary of Madison Ward, which includes between the river and the corporation line on the east and north.

Lee Ward, under the same plan, would embrace the whole northwestern section of the city and that portion of the western boundary of Madison Ward, which includes between the river and the corporation line on the east and north.

The plan gives to Clay Ward that part of the city which lies between the river on the south, the corporation line on the west, the south side of Broad Street on the north, and First Street on the east.

The mannequin statistician who has been at work on this tentative plan figures that this scheme of division correctly apportions the population so that no ward will have as many as 3,000 inhabitants more than any other ward. It is pointed out that the division just described has the advantage of compactness and shortening wards stretching over an extended territory are avoided.

WANT DEFINITE PLAN BY TIME ORDER TAKES EFFECT

The plan described is purely tentative and intended merely to form a basis upon which the redistricting committee may work. It is extremely probable that the boundaries will not change, but more or less slight adherence to the four-ward combat division is expected. The redistricting committee will probably have a definite plan of ward division to propose to the City Council by the time annexation becomes effective on November 5.

With another ordinance granting the City Council the power to permit to erect an electric sign on the building at 207½ North Sixth Street, the resolution appointing a redistricting committee will be the only business of importance at the Board's docket at to-morrow night's meeting. Both measures were passed by the

"COURSE OF TRUE LOVE NEVER DID RUN SMOOTH"

Cupid's Special Run to Washington
Next Monday—Not To-Day, as Was First Announced.

The course of true love never did run smooth.

Any or many young couples on marriage bent, who may be misled by the erroneous announcement of the time of departure of Mrs. Gill's annual special to Washington into making preparations to start their pilgrimage to Hyannis Shrine this morning must comfort themselves with that.

Mrs. Gill's excursion to Washington is not scheduled for to-day. The date next Monday, one week from to-day.

The announcement of the date published yesterday was an error. The advertising, however, due to a misprint, stands.

The advertised date and the date appearing on the printed tickets is Monday, September 21. After several scores of anxious ticket purchasers had called up Mrs. Gill yesterday morning over the telephone asking her to explain the discrepancy between the date given in the newspapers and the date printed on their tickets, she directed attention to the error and requested that it be corrected.

Under the direction of Charles H. Winslow, special agent of the Bureau of Labor at Washington, a corps of experts have for some time been engaged in an investigation of industrial conditions in this city, with the idea of bringing the city's educational system into close agreement with industrial needs.

It is expected that the report of the investigation will be ready about October 1.

The National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education has taken an active interest in the Richmond survey from the beginning, and its board of managers has appointed a special committee on education in the city to assist in industrial education for the United States Bureau of Education at Washington, and detailed by the bureau to assist in the Richmond survey.

Dr. Leonard P. Ayres, director of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, and his wife, Mrs. Ayres, are to speak at a meeting of the Richmond Survey on Friday night.

The Russell Sage Foundation has also been interested in the survey, and has sent its director, Dr. William T. Bayden, to assist in the work.
